

LITERACY AND LEARNING SERVICES

Is your school or district doing everything it can to prepare each student to be a strong and confident reader, writer, thinker, and learner?

Our students will face increasing demands to read, write, and think as they work to manage an ever-expanding world of information. Public Consulting Group's Center for Resource Management (PCG-CRM) literacy and learning services provide you with the tools and understanding necessary to ensure that all of your students are prepared for the intellectual demands of the 21st Century.

LITERACY AND LEARNING SERVICES

PCG Education's Literacy and Learning Services combine consulting, coaching, and professional development that enables schools and districts to provide all students, K-12, with the skills they need to be strong, independent readers, writers, thinkers, and communicators. Partner with us. We'll work with you to determine the right combination of resources and services, building systemic initiatives that improve student literacy, learning, and achievement.

"We have literacy work going on everywhere, but we need a coherent, district-wide effort."

Let's work together to implement a systemic literacy initiative that builds teacher capacity and student achievement.

Features of our customizable solution include:

- A Literacy & Learning Audit that analyses your data and delivers key findings and actionable recommendations specifically for your school or district
- Action Planning that builds buy-in of all stakeholders and establishes achievable but challenging short and long term goals
- Professional development that puts teachers and administrators on the same page and collaboratively builds capacity
- Customized literacy leadership coaching to ensure a successful, sustainable, systemic initiative

"We want to launch a district-wide literacy initiative, but aren't sure where to begin."

Let us work with your district and school leaders to help implement specific strategies that build a school- or district-wide literacy initiative. Areas of literacy leadership include:

- Using the Taking Action Literacy Leadership Model to support effective literacy instruction across content areas
- Planning and implementing effective literacy interventions for students who need extra support
- Establishing effective School and District Literacy Leadership Teams
- Using protocols for looking at student work, peer coaching, and reviewing assessments
- Conducting effective Literacy Walkthroughs and reporting the data in ways that improve teaching and learning

"Our teachers need help in understanding how learning strategies can help their students."

Let's work together to help your teachers understand and use powerful learning tools that improve student learning.

Possibilities include:

- Targeted professional development in the use of specific content area learning motivation, engagement, and achievement strategies and approaches
- Design and development of coordinated district, school, content area, and grade level efforts
- Building a cadre of Literacy & Learning coaches who will support their colleagues, shoulder-to-shoulder

"We are anxious to get our new initiatives up and running."

Let's work together to ramp-up today's most powerful education innovations in your district. We have expertise in helping with implementation in the following areas:

- Response to Intervention (RTI). Our RTI consulting services plus EdPlan™ software give you the tools and understanding to make your RTI initiative effective and efficient.
- Career and Technical Education (CTE). Our CTE Literacy Works! Professional development and resources build the capacity of CTE schools and centers to improve the literacy and learning skills of their students—both in the classroom and on the worksite.
- 21st Century Skills. PCG Education is a Professional Development Affiliate of the Partnership for 21st Century Skills. We will work with you to build and expand your districts' work in preparing your students for college and the workplace.
